Textechno is a leading manufacturer of precision testing equipment for the textile and man-made fibre industry. Founded more than 70 years ago, Textechno, together with its subsidiary Lenzing Instruments, is the world market and technology leader in this market segment. The company also specialises in the development and production of testing systems for composite materials.

For this sector, Textechno develops and markets systems for

- Determination of the force/elongation behaviour of fibres, yarns and rovings - fibre/matrix adhesion and interface properties and contact angle measurement, - Processability of rovings - Drapability of scrims and fabrics. Textechno has already received the JEC Innovation Award twice for its developments. In addition, tests are offered as a service in our own laboratory.
