REHAU Industries forms the umbrella for the Building, Window, Interior and Industrial Solutions divisions, which operate independently in their respective markets, as well as the cross-divisional REHAU Services & Solutions units. More than 12,000 employees worldwide work together to further improve life through the use of innovative, sustainable technologies for the construction, furniture and industrial sectors.

REHAU develops a wide range of profiles and profile-based systems for lightweight construction. Manufacturing processes such as extrusion and reactive thermoplastic pultrusion are used here. REHAU also offers expertise in the manufacture and use of thermoplastic-based sandwich panels. The versatile areas of application range from the transport, construction and outdoor sectors to the furniture sector.
